Charles Banford of Boston was charged in police court this morning with drunkenness. Although he pleaded guilty and at first stated that he had nothing to say in explanation of his shortcomings, he finally launched himself into a discourse that lasted the greater part of the forenoon. The judge and court attendants being evidently determined to allow the man to talk himself into a state of catatony.

Tears dripped profusely from the man's eyes during his speech and he frequently referred to them, stating that they were not due to grief but a sort of "crying illness" which came upon him a year ago together with a stroke of paralysis. He hastened to distinguish between "crying illness" and "sleeping sickness" stating that the latter was an affliction of the conservatives, while only a true progresser could fall heir to the first-named complaint.

Having talked himself speechless, Banford was finally allowed to depart with a suspended sentence of forty days on the rock pile.

Judge Reeder turned the matter over to Sanitary Inspector George Shorten and, after ascertaining that no such deaths were reported in Ogden on those dates, it was recalled that both incidents were related in the Salt Lake papers about that time, a woman dying suddenly on the day following the death of her brother. One death resulted from hemorrhage of the lungs and the other was not given.

The Idaho man has been advised as to these facts. It is understood by the authorities that an estate of considerable value is involved in the matter.

TEARS DRIP DOWN HIS FACE

Charles Banford of Boston was charged in police court this morning with drunkenness. Although he pleaded guilty and at first stated that he had nothing to say in explanation of his shortcomings, he finally launched himself into a discourse that lasted the greater part of the forenoon. The judge and court attendants being evidently determined to allow the man to talk himself into a state of catatony.

Tears dripped profusely from the man's eyes during his speech and he frequently referred to them, stating that they were not due to grief but a sort of "crying illness" which came upon him a year ago together with a stroke of paralysis. He hastened to distinguish between "crying illness" and "sleeping sickness" stating that the latter was an affliction of the conservatives, while only a true progresser could fall heir to the first-named complaint.

Having talked himself speechless, Banford was finally allowed to depart with a suspended sentence of forty days on the rock pile.

EASLEY HAS PROMISED TO PAY

Henry P. Easley, charged with abandoning his wife and children and refusing to pay alimony according to the order of the district court, was brought before Judge Reeder today for a disposal of his case.

After the reading of a lengthy contract by which Easley should promise to pay his wife, through the county commissioners, $35 a month for a period of one year or forfeit $300, he was asked if he would give his personal word to the court to fulfill the obligations enumerated.

Easley readily agreed to the proposition and signed the contract, meanwhile assuring the court that he would get to work at once and if possible send his destitute family some money before the end of the month. Easley could have been sent to jail for having failed to comply with the ruling of the district court, but Judge Reeder stated that, if the man could be held to his promise, he would be of more use to his wife and children while at liberty and at work than in jail and idle.

FIRE STARTS IN A MEAT MARKET

Fire was discovered in a closet upstairs in the Ellis Grocery and Meat Market, 2014 Washington avenue, last night and quick work by the department from Station No. 1 prevented a disastrous blaze. Damage amounting to about $1,600 was done to the store and contents, most of it being sustained from water, which flooded the stock.

The fire was incendiary, according to the fire officers. Mr. Ellis not having occupied the rooms above the store for some time and being away at present on a vacation. The closet was piled full of blankets and clothing and formed an ideal place for starting a blaze. Fortunately the department was able to confine the fire to the single room, preventing it from even reaching the roof. An investigation is being made by the police.

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 6.—Fifty miles in eighty minutes was the record made by Governor Wilson when he motored today from Sea Girt to Trenton. CHAUTAUQUA SHORTAGE ONLY $500

At a meeting of the Utah Chautauqua association last evening the business for the entire year was reviewed and it was ascertained that the expected shortage this year will not reach above $500. This is a considerable improvement over the final accounting of last year, there being a shortage then of $850 with no money in the treasury.

This year there is a stock fund of $1,000 which will pay the deficit and leave $500 still in the treasury. The receipts this year were $3,200 and the expenditures, $3,500. The Chautauqua enterprise has received gratifying support from the citizens of Ogden, 206 shares of treasury stock having been sold at $10 a share.

The directors made particular comment on the manner in which so many had extended their efforts in behalf of the assembly, either by personal endeavor or by loaning automobiles and other conveniences for the use of those who could spend more time.

The presidents of the various stakes, L. W. Shurtliff, James Wotherpoon, and T. B. Evans, rendered valuable service in arousing interest in the assembly; also their counselors and bishops, including C. F. Middleton, H. C. Jacobs and others. The efforts of J. J. Barker, H. C. Jacobs, Charles Woods and others in charge of the various divisions of the historical pageant were particularly appreciated, as well as those of the ladies who assisted in making costumes, etc., for the event.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the following persons, and any others whose names may have unfortunately been left off the list, but whose efforts were none the less appreciated:

Madam Holberg, Miss Rosalie A. Holberg, Mrs. Fred N. Hess, Vera L. Frey, the Misses Malone, Miss Staley, Miss Ferrin, D. O. ROSENTHAL HAD MADE A MISTAKE

As interest grows in the Rosenthal murder case in New York, Ogden men who were acquainted with the big gambler during his residence in this city and almost daily to the reminiscences related of him.

Rosenthal was one of the proprietors of the old Elephant gambling house on Twenty-fifth street about twelve years ago and a well-known sporting man related today an incident which occurred at that time.

The wife of a workman complained to the police one night that her husband had come home without his monthly pay check and that he had admitted gambling away the money at the Elephant.

Detective James Pender was detailed on the case and he lost no time in going to the gambling house in question to straighten out the matter for the woman.

Rosenthal had not been in Ogden very long and did not recognize the detective in his official capacity.

"I want to see the manager of this establishment," said Pender, as Rosenthal approached him.

"I am the manager," returned Rosenhal, pompously tapping himself on the shirt bosom. "What do you want?"

"I called, sir, in behalf of a poor woman whose husband has gambled away his pay check—"

"Say, look here, old man," interrupted the gambler, "what do you think we're running here, a convent for indigents or a vestry meeting. You beat it back to the parsonage."

"All right, mister," responded Pender, quietly displaying his star; "you put out these lights and clear the room. I want the house empty inside of five minutes."

Rosenthal was taken aback and as soon as he could recover from his surprise hastened to confer with his superiors and the workman's check was delivered in record time to the woman waiting at the door.

UTAH FRUIT MEN HOLD MEETING

A meeting of the board of directors of the Utah Fruit Exchange is being held at the office of the exchange on Washington avenue this afternoon, to consider in detail the matter of hauling the fruit crop this season.

Manager White states that the principal questions to be considered are those of expert picking, packing and shipping of the fruit. It is more than likely that a number of expert pack examiners will be decided on by the directors. Those in attendance are:

R. Rasmussen, Cache; J. F. Burton and Moroni Mortenson, Bear River; J. P. Christensen, Brigham; Joseph Mason and Joseph Hubbard, Willard; H. H. Thompson and Frank Moore, Ogden; Parley Moele, Clearfield; Eugene Miller and Francis McDonald.

GUARDIANSHIP OF NORA A. KYNE

In the matter of the estate and guardianship of Nora A. Kyne, her father, P. C. Kyne, has petitioned the district court for letters of guardianship.

It is related in the petition that Nora has an estate consisting of a judgment affirmed by the supreme court of the state amounting to $7,750 and accrued interest, the judgment having been secured in the district court about a year ago.

It will be recalled that Nora A. Kyne, 14 years old, met with an accident at Lakeside on the Southern Pacific railroad, in which her left foot was so badly crushed that it was necessary to amputate it at the instep, leaving her a cripple for life. Her father sued the company for damages and she was awarded the sum above given by the jury.

The injury was inflicted through Nora being struck by a car in a work train at Lakeside, dragging her quite a distance and throwing her under a wheel which passed over her foot.

Since the suit was concluded Nora has attended the Sacred Heart Academy in this city. Her father lives in the vicinity of Lucin, where Mr. Kyne is engaged in the sheep business.
